How CaptionCall Works

CaptionCall is similar to captioned television, but only available to people with hearing loss. It uses cutting-edge technology to display written, nearly instant captions. Here's how it works:

1. The CaptionCall user hears the caller's voice over a standard phone line.
2. The CaptionCall phone sends the caller's voice to the CaptionCall service via an internet connection.
3. A Captioning Agent quickly converts the caller's words to text using voice-recognition technology.
4. Captions are sent back to the CaptionCall phone display screen.

How Can CaptionCall Be Free?

As a provision of the Americans with Disabilities Act, the U.S. federal government established a fund to give individuals with hearing loss access to captioned telephone service at no cost. CaptionCall is an FCC-authorized captioned telephone service provider, and is compensated by the government for providing this service. No costs are passed on to the end users for the CaptionCall phone or service.
